Horse Rider Crush Newbs Season 6 Full Game. Good luck. S.D. Janitorial Cheats Tabs 1,1. How to Post a New Topic.Q: What if I want to read information about a small region of an image and then apply it to another region of the same image? I have a 300x300 image which is supposed to be segmented. I am doing the segmentation using an edge detector that returns me a collection of segments. I then look for the three largest ones and define their position as being coordinates "x", "y" and "area". A region of the image may be located at (x, y) and its size is in (x*x, y*y). Is there a pre-made class (for example a MaskImage) that will allow me to access a small region of the image and read it's pixels and then apply it to another region of the same image at coordinates (x, y)? It should be a little bit like a magick rectangle or a rectangle of some kind A: image_im = cv2.imread('images/small_img.jpg') magick_rect = list() rect_coords=[] for i,j in enumerate(img_im): magick_rect.append([i,j,j,i]) h,w,c = image_im.shape rect_coords = np.array(magick_rect) for i in range(h): for j in range(w): if rect_coords[i,j]: image_im[i][j] = 255 pass cv2.imshow('magick',img_im) Q: Laravel 4: Working with sessions I've just installed Laravel 4 to try it out and do some tutoriae on it. I'm wondering about the session itself. My session is cleared on every page view like this: Route::group(array('before' => 'auth'), function() { Route::get('/home', 'HomeController@index'); Route::
